

Mr. Jeffrey Angers
Director, Strategic Integration Office
Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army
(Manpower and Reserve Affairs)

Mr. Angers is the Director of the Strategic Integration Office in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Reserve Affairs). Serving in this role since May 2012, he assists the Assistant Secretary and Principal Deputy in setting the strategic direction for the ASA(M&RA), while serving as the focal point for the organization's strategic management and integration efforts.

Jeff has over 25 years of experience in the defense community. After graduating from West Point in 1987, he spent his Army career serving in multiple diverse assignments. This included serving as a Platoon Leader in a Special Weapons Artillery Detachment and an Assistant Operations Officer in an Ordnance Brigade – both in Cold War Germany. After returning to the states, Jeff commanded an Explosive Ordnance Disposal Company at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey prior to attending graduate school. After graduate school, Jeff became the Executive Officer and an Assistant Professor of Economics in the Department of Social Sciences, United States Military Academy.

The end of Jeff's military career was spent primarily in and around the Pentagon. This included serving as a logistics analyst in the Program Analysis and Evaluation Directorate on the Army Staff, an Army Fellow at the RAND Corporation, and a senior economic and manpower analyst in Program Analysis and Evaluation, Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD). After retiring from the Army in 2007, Jeff spent the next two years as an Associate with Booz Allen Hamilton, working primarily manpower and performance management issues. In 2009, Jeff accepted his first civil service position in OSD's Defense Language Office. From October 2009 through May 2012, Jeff served as the Director, Business Innovation in Army's Office of Business Transformation (OBT).

Jeff holds a Masters of Business Administration from the Sloan School of Management, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a Bachelor of Science in Economics from the United States Military Academy. He has been married to his wife, Kathy, for 19 years. They have three teenage children, Danielle, Jordan, and Brannon.